this afternoon. You three need to agree on one cookie. I'll come back in a few minutes."

Devin, Oliver, and Ruby sat at the kitchen table. Soon they had an agreement.

"We're ready, Mom," Devin called.

Mom came back into the room. "What did you choose?"

"Peanut butter," Devin said.

"And oatmeal," Oliver said.

"And chocolate chip," Ruby added.

"But that's still three kinds of cookies," Mom said.

Devin, Oliver, and Ruby giggled.

"No it's not," Oliver said.

"It's one cookie with peanut butter, oatmeal, and chocolate chips!" Ruby said.

Mom smiled. "Wow! That's a great solution."

Mom handed Devin two cookbooks. "I think there will be a recipe in one of those. Oliver and Ruby, please get out pot holders and cookie sheets. I'll get out mixing bowls and measuring cups."

"I found a recipe!" Devin shouted a minute later.

"Great," Mom said. She looked at the recipe, then turned on the oven.

"Now we'll collect all the ingredients," Mom said.

Together, they collected flour, sugar, eggs, peanut butter, oatmeal, chocolate chips, and more.
